

Pilot markets first — then Europe

We learn where the pain is acute, then scale as an EU-based SaaS — not as a one-country lifestyle tool.

Innovation thesis

Metrico's innovation is not another generic project board. It is a repeatable operating system for the construction pre-sale → build → handover loop: visual unit grids, installment math, site finance, and owner updates in one bilingual offline-capable product. Generic CRMs track contacts; heavyweight construction suites optimize job-site logistics. Mid-size developers still run units, buyers, and receivables in spreadsheets and chat. Metrico closes that gap with software leverage — the same SaaS sold on annual plans — so growth does not require rebuilding a custom agency stack for every project or country.

01

Pilot & learn

Real projects teach unit sales, installments, and owner pressure — before we overbuild.

02

Near markets

Expand into Turkey and the Gulf with the same product core and bilingual UI.

03

Europe base

Company operations from Estonia / EU: talent, billing, and compliance.

04

Product scale

EU payments, deeper takeoff/energy, and market-price insights on the roadmap.

Why a pilot market

An early operating market (including Iran where we already understand the workflow) is for feedback and product truth — not the end destination. Mid-size developers drowning in spreadsheets are the wedge customer.

Regional expansion

Next commercial push: Turkey and Gulf developers who share similar pre-sale + installment patterns. Same SaaS, localized go-to-market — not a custom agency rebuild per country.

European growth

European adopters and partners come after the product is bilingual, field-proven, and company-ready. We sell software subscriptions — not local consulting hours.

Estonia as operating base

We intend to incorporate and operate from Estonia: hire specialized engineering and international sales talent, complete EU-ready billing, and use Estonian digital infrastructure as HQ — while selling into construction markets beyond any single country.

Honest note: sample demo data is labeled demo. We do not present it as live paying traction. Early markets teach; Europe is the scale path.
